

Hey Boris, Christmas is-a-Coming

Hey Boris,
Christmas is a coming and we need to plan the day
We all need some notice...if you're going to take it away
Last year was hard to bear, as families were pulled apart
Surely no repetition is looming, and we can be left to start?

Hey Boris,
Where are you going to celebrate with your extended clan?
Did I hear South Africa... is that a possible plan?
Or something more traditional in the land of the lochs
A time to catch up with Dominic and put away the stocks.

Hey Boris,
This year has tested your resolve and your leadership success
Do you think your performance has been achieved, or has it been a mess?
As someone who has never met you, who am I to judge?
All I know, is that actions speak louder than any personal grudge.

Hey Boris,
Not everyone is thinking of Christmas cheer
Especially if you're alone and needing an ear.
Will we all raise our glasses to the homeless and those in plight?
When we crack out the bubbly together on a cold Christmas night.

Adrian Henson 2/12/21

